AnMed Health Occupational Medicine Clinic opens in Clemson

(Anderson, S.C. – Sept. 4, 2018) AnMed Health has opened an occupational medicine clinic that will serve employers and employees in Clemson, Seneca and Westminster. The new occupational medicine clinic is located at the AnMed Health Clemson campus, 885 Tiger Boulevard / U.S. Hwy 123 in Clemson. It will provide local employers pre-screening physicals for new employees, drug screens, safety exams and work injury care in addition to other services.

“The Clemson area supports a thriving manufacturing community and has several large employers. We developed the occupational medicine practice to help employers keep their employees healthy and on-the-job, which ultimately reduces the costs associated with injured workers,” said Dr. Ping Gao, clinic director.

The clinic provides a full spectrum of occupational medicine services to help companies ensure their workers remain healthy. Additional services at the clinic include drug and alcohol testing, treatment of injured workers, immunizations; job demands analyses and job function testing and wellness coaching.

For more information, employees and employers may contact the clinic at (864) 654-8624.
