We are pleased to present you with this AnMed Health Foundation Community Impact Report for 2012 and hope you are proud of the key contributions your health system has made to our community again this year.

For some in our community, familiarity with AnMed Health is a recent occurrence, having relocated to this area from other parts of the state, country or world. For others and their older relatives, AnMed Health has been a gift for a lifetime. Many of our friends and neighbors were born in this hospital and brought their children into the world here as well. They came here to have their broken arm set in a cast and later carried their bleeding child into the Emergency Department for stitching of an accidental wound. They brought parents to AnMed Health to receive critical radiation therapy for cancer treatment then waited anxiously themselves on the result of their latest mammogram. They even said goodbye to a dying loved one here while hoping they received the same care and compassion when their time here comes.

We also believe a gift for a lifetime has another meaning – one of generous philanthropy. AnMed Health was founded from the philanthropic gifts of our predecessors and has itself, for many years, been one of the most significant providers of charity, both in healthcare and in dollar contributions, in the Anderson area. But the most critical philanthropists are you, our AnMed Health Foundation supporters. Your kindhearted gifts join those of others in positively endowing high-quality, safe healthcare for your family and friends right here in our community for many years to come.

At AnMed Health, we are humble and proud to be your gift for a lifetime, and we will greatly appreciate and properly steward yours in return.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR CEO

John A. Miller, Jr., FACHE
CEO, AnMed Health

Dear Friends and Supporters,

Philanthropy is the cornerstone of AnMed Health – dating back more than a century to our humble beginning when Mrs. Virginia Gilmer rallied the community together to raise money for a new hospital. Today, we have recommitted to our tradition of philanthropy with the creation of The AnMed Health Foundation and the formation of a new governing Board of Trustees to lead our philanthropic efforts.

In addition to compassionate healing, the culture that permeates AnMed Health is one of charitable giving. From the inside out, the health system and all of its associates strive to create an atmosphere where caring and generosity are part of the backbone of high-quality healthcare throughout the region.

The leadership of The AnMed Health Foundation is in the process of launching a robust, multi-faceted development effort to effectively communicate our vision for philanthropy on behalf of our health system. We will proactively engage and challenge our existing and potential supporters to believe that the highest quality and safest healthcare available can be found right here, right now, at AnMed Health.

Heartfelt thanks go out to all our past and present donors for the positive impact your contributions have made in the lives of our patients and associates. We hope you will continue to believe in our mission and continue to generously support the new Foundation moving forward. If you have not made a philanthropic gift to The AnMed Health Foundation, please review our case for your support and strongly consider making a commitment to give as we promise to employ your resources to impact health and wellbeing and to generate positive outcomes for everyone in our community.

Sincerely,

John A. Miller, Jr., FACHE
CEO, AnMed Health

AnMed Health employees are proud, dedicated individuals who understand that providing safe, excellent quality healthcare is the gold standard expected by everyone in the community. They also realize that the value of the healthcare team as a whole is much greater than the combined value of each individual on the team. With the community’s support, AnMed Health achieved several milestones last year that represent our commitment to medical excellence here in the Anderson area and demonstrate our employees’ dedication to reaching and sustaining the gold standard of care.

Below is a summary of noteworthy achievements celebrated at AnMed Health during the past year:

Celebration of Achievements

AnMed Health received the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s prestigious Magnet® designation for nursing excellence, becoming only the third healthcare system in S.C. to receive this honor.

Throughout life’s ups and downs, one thing Ricky could count on is receiving quality medical care at AnMed Health Westside Family Medicine. Over the past several years, Ricky has suffered a stroke and been diagnosed with type 2 diabetes. Unemployed and unable to afford regular primary care, Ricky is grateful that a professional doctor’s office is convenient and accessible to those in need. The staff at Westside has helped him manage his diabetes and get his health on track. "Westside Family Medicine is a vital part of our community, and they treat me like somebody, not just another patient," Ricky said.
These achievements are a reflection of the type of compassion and professionalism displayed by all members of our healthcare team and are notable examples of how your philanthropic dollars are helping to provide healthcare that is second-to-none anywhere.

Your donations support efforts aimed at illness prevention and improving population health and wellness in addition to excellent medical treatment and ensure that the products and services of AnMed Health continue to provide great community benefit now and in the future.

In addition, the AnMed Health Rehabilitation Hospital was:

- Received the President's Circle Award, HealthSouth’s highest honor
- Named a Stroke Center of Excellence and Earned Disease-Specific Care Certification in hip fracture rehabilitation from The Joint Commission

Born premature at 29 weeks, Jacob’s future was uncertain, but after receiving specialized therapy from AnMed Health Pediatric Therapy Works beginning when he was just a few months old, Jacob made significant progress. “Jacob wouldn’t be where he is today if it weren’t for the services he received at Pediatric Therapy Works so early in his life,” says his mother, Elizabeth. “When he was born, we didn’t even know if he would survive, and look at him now!”

Today, Jacob is an active 8-year-old Cub Scout who enjoys school, playing with friends and doing things that boys do.
Following is a summary of the special events conducted by The AnMed Health Foundation this past year and the charitable gifts accumulated by the community’s patronage of these fund-raising activities.

The Camellia Ball black-tie event continues to grow each year and attracted more than 600 people of all ages to enjoy an evening of fine food, dancing and fellowship while raising funds for the young patients of AnMed Health Pediatric Therapy Works. In 2012, the 18th annual event netted nearly $115,000.

The 3rd annual Arts Infusion – an art show and sale featuring work from local artists – was held to benefit the patients of the Infusion Center at the AnMed Health Cancer Center. Paintings, pottery, photographs, sculptures, jewelry and other fine works are on display in the Cancer Center atrium and a portion of sales helps patients battling cancer and other chronic diseases who have inadequate insurance or financial resources to pay for their critical infusion treatments.

Drawing support from businesses, vendors and organizations, the 3rd annual Kids Classic golf tournament netted more than $42,000 to support the charitable care services at the AnMed Health Children’s Health Center. Serving a large population of families with little or no health insurance, the health center relies heavily on community financial support to provide young patients with well-child exams, immunizations and medical treatment.

Donors and supporters attended Discover AnMed Health events to get an inside look at AnMed Health and learn about the advancements being made in medical treatments and patient care.

Carrying on a long-standing tradition, AnMed Health lit its holiday star atop the Medical Center and honored the donations made to the annual Lights for Lifeline fundraising campaign. Supporters contributed almost $5,000 to support the AnMed Health Lifeline Fund, which helps provide the Lifeline Personal Emergency Response System to individuals who demonstrate a need and qualify for financial assistance.

With declining health and no family nearby, 64-year-old Jimmie worried about living alone. A friend and neighbor recommended the AnMed Health Lifeline Fund and soon Jimmie had a renewed sense of security and peace of mind. “I feel safer now with my Lifeline and know that someone will be there if I need it. Even when I’m alone, I’m not alone.” Jimmie continues to live independently and knows that help is just a push of a button away in case of a medical or other emergency in his home.
