AnMed Health holds groundbreaking event for newest family medicine practice

(Anderson, S.C. – May 20, 2021) – AnMed Health held a groundbreaking event on May 19 for its newest family medicine practice, AnMed Health Central Family Medicine. The new practice is located at 1035 West Main Street in Central, S.C. Central's mayor and the town administrator along with members of the AnMed Health executive team were among the guests at the event.

The practice sits on 1.3-acres of land, purchased by AnMed Health in April of last year. Construction on the $3.4 million project is well underway. The design for the practice calls for 12 exam rooms, a procedure room and space for in-house labs.

The practice will open with one board-certified family medicine physician. AnMed Health Central Family Medicine will be equipped at the opening to add three additional providers. A second primary care provider is expected to join the practice next summer.

AnMed Health CEO William Kenley told those gathered, "AnMed Health is excited to be expanding its commitment to our neighbors in Central and the Clemson area. We are so proud to be your healthcare partners, and I can say without hesitation that the best is yet to come."

The target opening date for AnMed Health Central Family Medicine is December 2021. The practice will join a broad physician network that spans the Anderson, Clemson, Pickens and Hartwell areas.
